Version 1.0 Initial Public Release Build 327

User Manual

Table of Contents

Features and Overview

Article Submitter Plus by NiCK Carty, takes article marketing to a whole new level. This software allows you to get started in 3 easy steps and can submit unique variations of your article to over 400 sites literally at the push of a button.

Using multi thread technology, the software works at an incredibly powerful speed and can create accounts or submit articles simultaneously to multiple sites.

The software can post to sites running on the following platforms: WordPress, Article Friendly, Article Friendly Ultimate, Article Dashboard, Article Beach and Article MS. Out of the box, it is preloaded with 500 websites to submit your articles and on an average, you will always get over 400+ successful submission for every article of yours.

You can also add you own list of websites running on the above mentioned platform and it can handle it easily. In case if you want us to add support for different platforms, please contact our support team and we shall try to get it arranged for you.

The software is intelligently designed to select the relevant categories for your articles based on the keywords you provide so almost everything is automated to the core.

The software has a build in scheduler so you can drip feed the submissions too. And there is a detailed reporting module which gives you all the information on submission as well as links to the published articles.

The software integrates with Death by Captcha' automatic captcha solving service and you need to have an account there which is just $7 per 5000 captcha. This should be enough to get you started as the Captcha is mostly required during the account creation process only.

Other features include integration with The Best Spinner and Spin Rewriter to generate spintax automatically at the push of a button.

There is also an auto updater included within the software so when we publish a new version, it can automatically update on its own.

System Requirements

The software can work on all versions of Windows starting from XP.

Hardware wise, 1 GB RAM and processor speeds over 1 GHz should be sufficient.

Most importantly, the software requires a good Internet connection to work with.

Installation

The application is distributed as a Windows Installer package (.msi file)

You can always download the latest version from here and open this file on your Windows PC to begin installation, just like you would do with any other software.

Once you open the Installer package on your Windows PC, you shall see the installer open as in the image shown to the right.
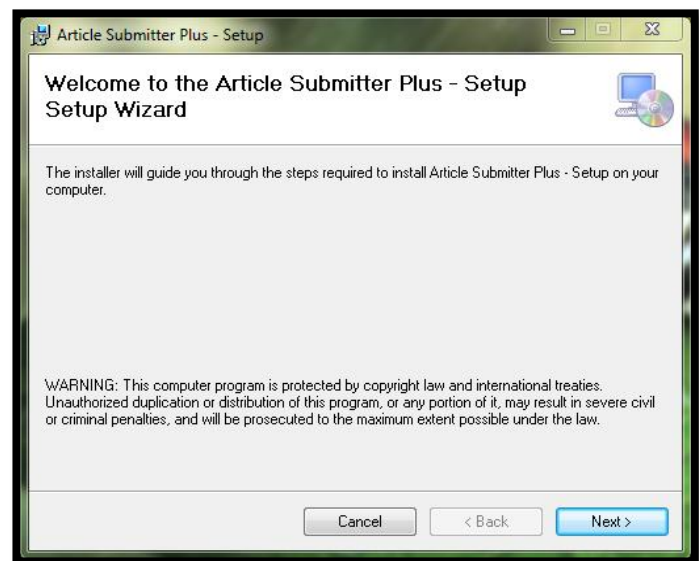

Press the Next button and you will then be prompted with the location to install the software.

By default, it will choose:
C:\Users\UserName\AppData\Roaming\

Leave it unchanged as the folder is usually writable and not protected by Windows. Or you could install to some drive other than C: if you wish to. And once done, press the Next button and it should continue with installation.

Further steps should be self-explanatory and once the installation is over, the software will automatically create a shortcut to the software on your Desktop so you can access it from there easily at any time.

Software Activation

The very first time when you open the software right after installation, you will be presented with an activation screen that looks like in the image below:

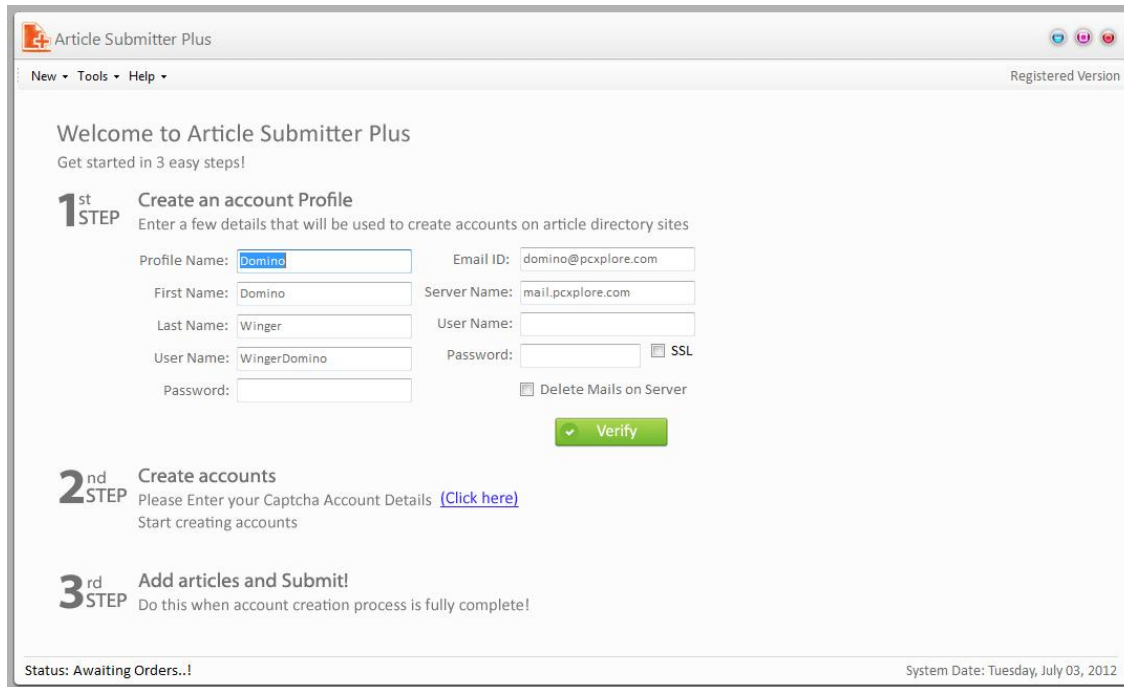

Please fill in the username/email address and password received right after purchase and press the green Activate button. You need to activate the software just once after every install and that's it!

In case if you have forgotten your username or password, please email our support team.

Getting Started

Upon successful activation, the software will proceed to the Welcome Screen if you're opening it for the first time and it looks like in the image below:

As you can see, it allows you to get started in just 3 easy steps!

Step 1: Creating an account Profile

The article directory websites require you to register or create an account with them before you can submit articles. The software can register on all the websites for you automatically.

Before you begin, make sure you have created an email account and have it ready. Most article directory websites will not allow Gmail, Yahoo, Hotmail or any free email providers. So the software will allow only email accounts within your domain, created using cPanel.

Simply fill in all the details as shown in the image below:

Description for each field is also added below the image.

Profile Name:

A unique name to identify this profile, example: My Profile or Your Name

First Name and Last Name:

You don't have to enter your real names. Just enter some random name and make sure they will be unique by adding a couple of random alphabets in the end. For example, if you were to enter the first and last name as Kevin Hunter, it would be better to add as KevinHY HunterGR.

User Name:

Best option is to add your First name and Last name together and do not include any numbers here as many sites will not allow it. Example, if your first name and last name were KevinHY and Hunter GR, you could enter the username and KevinHunterGRY or something unique.

Password:

You can enter anything here. Just make sure it is about 8 characters long.

Email ID:

As mentioned previously, use only cPanel created email account here.

Server name is usually mail.your-domain-name.com

Delete Mails on Server:

Make sure this option is checked so the emails are deleted on server after downloading them to prevent them downloading again. Although the software can remember already downloaded emails and won't re-download the same email again, it is still better to delete them as you no longer need them.
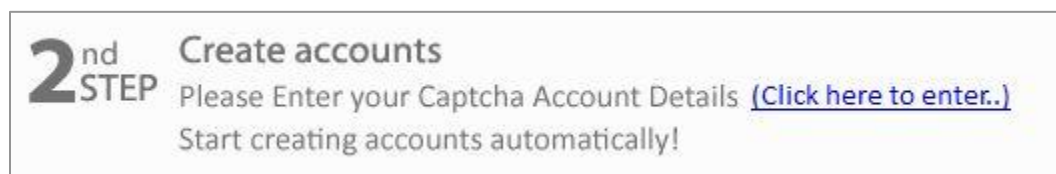

And for the same reason, it is advised to create an email account just for using with this software as cPanel email accounts should always be free to create.

So once all the profile detailed are entered, press on the green 'Verify' button and the software will check if the settings entered are all correct and if it could login to the mail account.

Following which, you can proceed to next step.

Step 2: Creating Accounts

All of the article directories require you to resolve a Captcha before you could create an account with them. This software can automatically solve the Captcha code with help of Death by Captcha who are the cheapest Captcha resolving service by far. Make sure you get an account with them and it is just $6.95 for 5000 Captcha which should be more than enough.

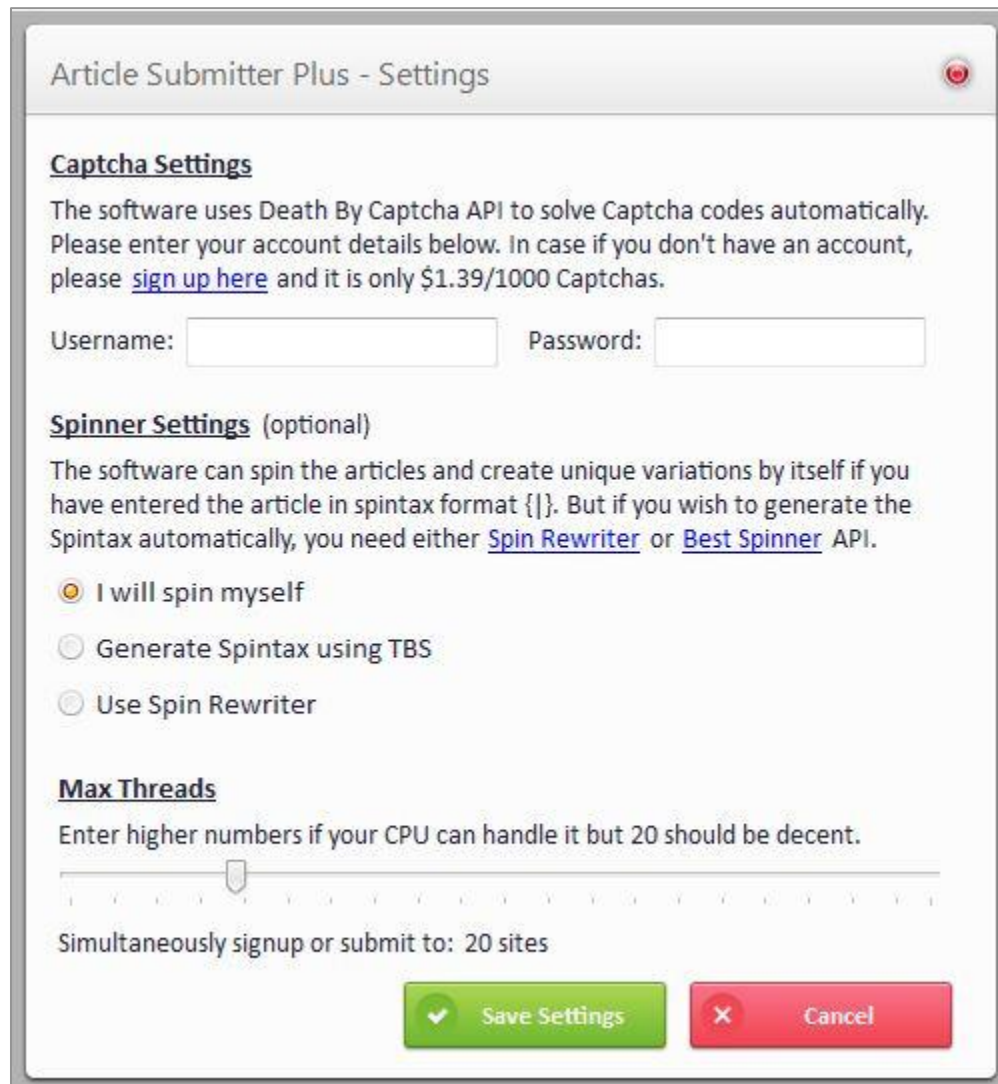

IMPORTANT: The software communicates with Death by Captcha servers using DeCaptcher API so you need to enable it in your account. You can do it here!

Once done, back in the software, click on the link that says 'Click here to enter..' as shown in the above image and it will open up the settings screen as shown in the image below, where you can enter your Death by Captcha User name and Password.

Settings Section

The settings screen looks like in the image below and can also be access from the software' Top
Menu bar under Tools link.

Spinner Settings:

This is a totally optional setting and you may not need it always.

The software can automatically spin the articles before submitting, if you have entered the article with spin-tax in the format {a|b|c}

But if you want to generate the spin-tax automatically, the software can do that with help of The Best Spinner or Spin Rewriter. Both are affiliate links and I won't say you really need them. Best option would be to manually spin the articles but it is a painful task if you wish to do.

Max Threads:

Article Submitter Plus uses advanced multi-threading technology to create accounts or submit articles simultaneously to multiple sites. By default, it is set to 20 sites which should be a decent number but if your CPU can handle it, you can raise the bar but it isn't recommended usually.

Once all the settings are verified, you can press the green 'Save Settings' button to get back to the Welcome screen and proceed to create accounts by clicking on the blue button:

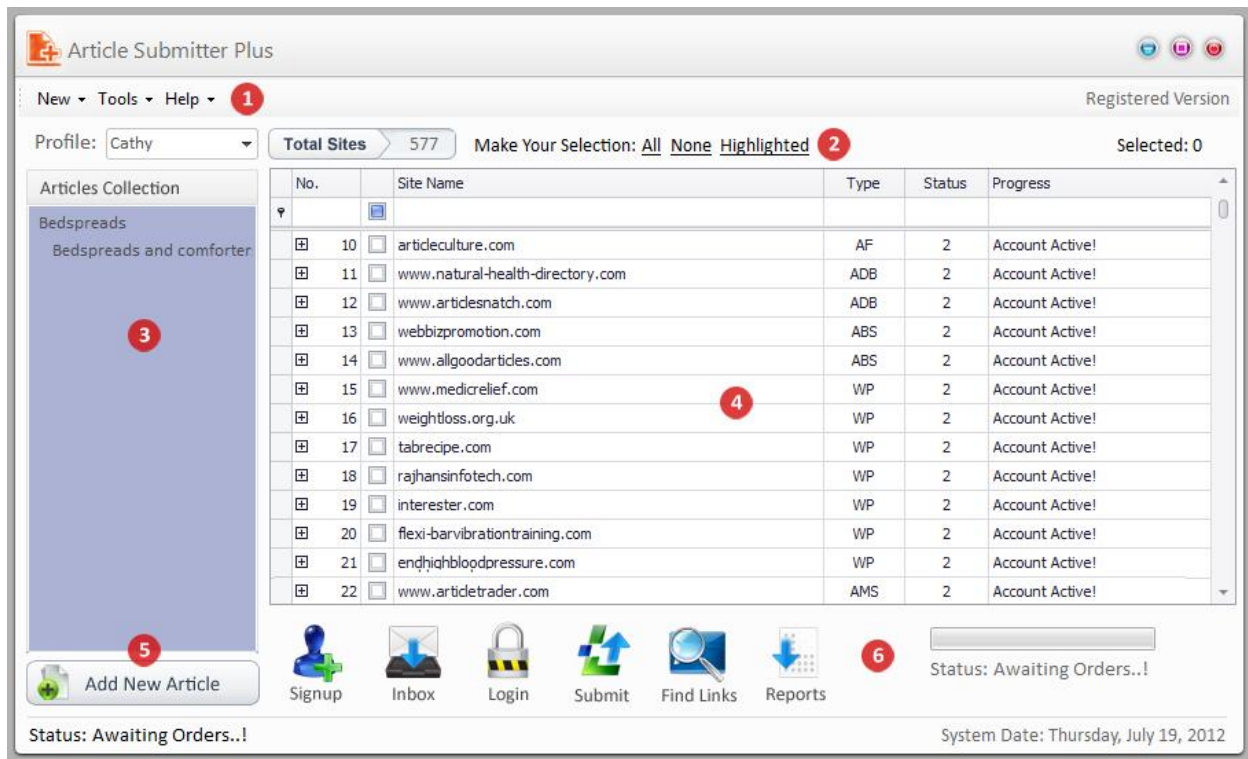

Automatic Account Creation

Once all the above steps are complete, the software will load the main window where it will select all the article directory sites and proceeds to create accounts on them.

Once account creation is complete, it will proceed to download the emails automatically and process them by clicking on the activation link.

Finally, it will verify the login information to confirm if the account creation has completed successfully. The entire process should take anywhere between 30-45 minutes and you can take a break while it does as the process is completely automated and no intervention is required on your part!

Finally, when the account creation is fully complete, you may proceed to add articles and submit them. Detailed instructions are given in this document.

Software Parts Explained

1. Top Menu

Contains links to access different modules of the software. You can add a new profile or article under the 'New' menu. Tools menu will give access to the Settings section as well as the module to Add new directory sites for advanced users.

2. Info Pane

Give you brief information on the total number of sites available to submit. This section also has hyperlinks to quickly select all the articles or the ones highlighted. And on the right corner, you can see the total number of currently selected sites.

3. Articles Pane

This section will contain all your articles which can be grouped under your desired name. Typically useful when you want to group the articles under a particular site name or so. Helps in keeping things organized as overtime you may have too many articles added.

4. Sites Section

This is the core section of the software which contains all the sites as well as the articles under them. Next to each site, you can see the type of the website and the account status along with username, passwords and sorts.

Status column displays a number which corresponds to the accounts status. 1 means Account has been created, 2 suggests the account has been activated, 3 suggest the article has been submitted and 4 suggest the article has been published and the software has found the link.

The progress column also reports on the status of current work that is being done on the site.

Towards the left of each site, you can find '+' buttons which when clicked will expand the row and show the articles added under them along with their submission status.

You can right click on any row and choose to visit the article directory website. When you right click on the article row, it will point you to the published article if a link is available.

5. Add Article Button

Clicking on this button will allow you to add a new article. If you wish to edit an article, simply right click on the article name listed on the articles pane.

6. Control Section

This area contains all the important buttons that allows you to Create accounts (Signup), download and process emails (Inbox), verify logins (Login), submit articles (Submit), find published links (Find Links) and display submission reports (Reports).

 To the right side, you can see a progress bar which becomes active if any process is running.

Also, a small link to cancel the current running process will become visible underneath the progress bar when the software is working on something such as creating accounts or submitting articles.

Adding a New Article

You can access the add new article screen either by clicking on the 'Add New Article' button available right below the article pane or from the top Menu under 'New' menu link.

Most of the fields are self-explanatory. All fields can accept spin-tax in the format {a|b|c} except the title. If you would like to spin the title as well, add the title with spin-tax in the field that says 'Spin Title'

Note: All fields are plain text fields which means, you are allowed to add HTML tags and they will be sent to the article directories as is. Try not to add HTML tags other than ,  or , <ul>, <li>. You can add links using  tags.

For best results, we would suggest adding 1 link in the body text and 1 in the resource field. Don't add more than 2 links and try to add articles having a minimum of 500 words for best results. These are actually not the limitations of software but on the article directory sites.

Once you have entered all the fields, click on the green 'Preview Article' button and it will take you to the Preview page where you can just have a look at the entire article.

Further, press on the same green button to proceed to site selection.

Here you can select all the sites where you want the articles to be published. Usually, you would select all the sites and this can be done with a small hyperlink at the top.

Once all the sites have been selected, choose whether you want to submit the article instantly or drip feed over a period of time using the built-in auto scheduler.

Instant Submission:

Choosing this option will not submit all the articles instantly. It will just add the articles under all the above selected sites and from the software' main window, you would need to select the article first on the left article pane to load the articles under sites and then select (highlight) all the sites where you want the article to be published and finally hit the submit button.

Drip Feed:

Using this method, the article will be added to the scheduler and the scheduler will run every day to check if the article has to be submitted and proceed to submit.

You can still override this and submit to sites instantly by manually selecting the sites and pressing the submit button as you would do on the instant submission method and this won't conflict with the scheduler as it is intelligently designed to post only to those sites where the article has not been published already!
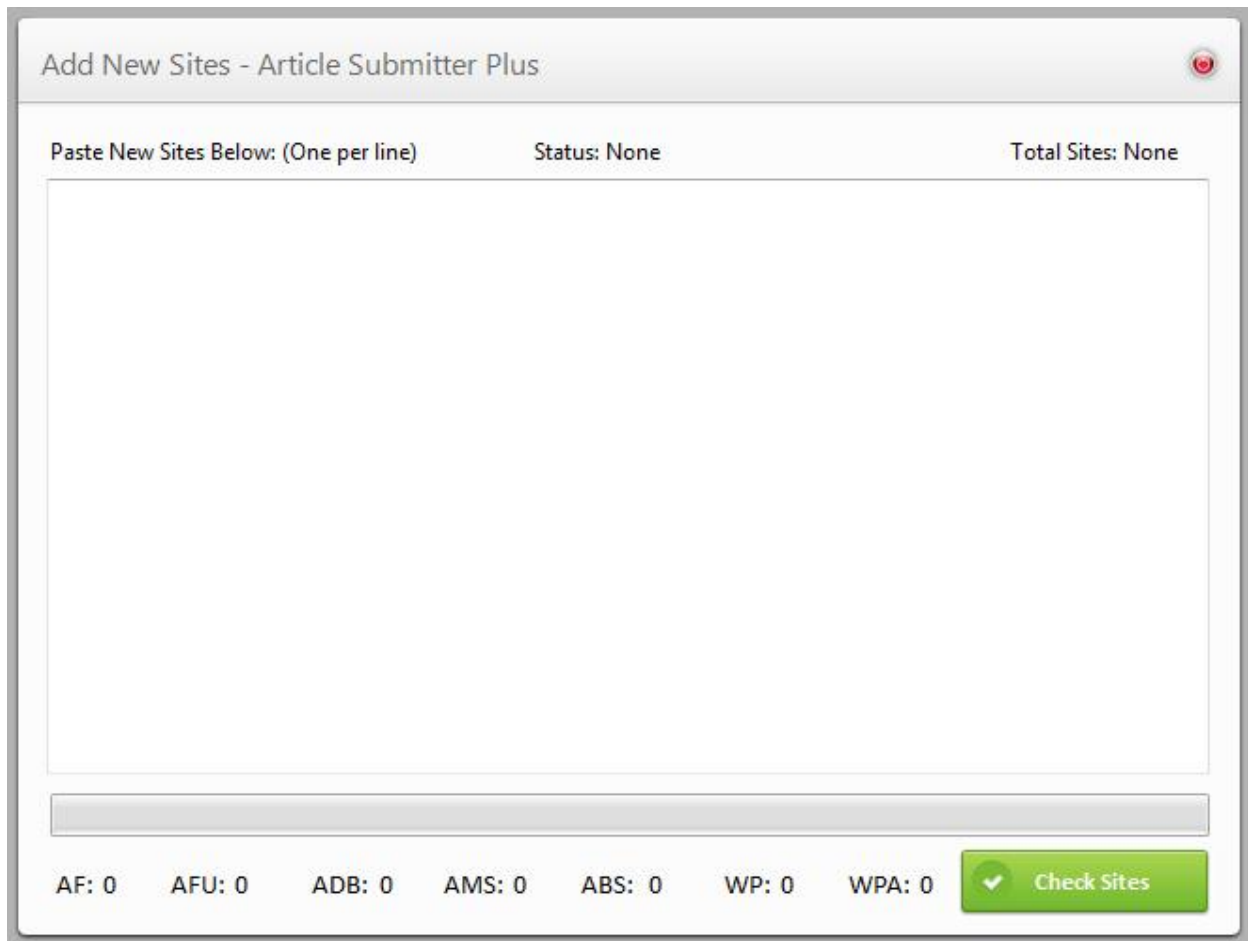

Editing an Article

To edit an already article, simple right click on the article name displayed on the articles pane and select 'Edit Article' option.

This will open up the same Add article screen but with your article pre-loaded for modification.

The site selection pane will now be empty or will only have the sites under which the articles have never been added before.

Adding New Sites

You can access this screen from the top menu, under 'Tools' link.

Although the software comes pre-loaded with over 500 sites to submit your articles and get backlinks from, you could also add your own list of sites if they run on any of the following platform: Article Friendly, Article Friendly Ultimate, Article Beach, Article MS, Article Dashboard and WordPress.

Simply enter the list of sites on the above text box as one site per line and press the green 'Check sites' button. The software will then verify each one of the site for its type and if a match is found, it will be available for importing. You could either import to an individual profile or to all of the profiles.

Automatic Updates

The software can update on its own when a new version has been published.

Our developers are constantly at work in adding more features and sites to the software and whenever we publish an update, you will be presented with an automatic update screen that looks like in the image below.

.

Simply click on the green 'Update Now' button to begin the update process and it should complete in less than 5 minutes depending upon your internet connectivity speeds.

Technical Support

We have a dedicated support staff to handle your queries and we also have a public community forum where you can participate to learn more ideas or to share your thoughts.

Email Support: Owner[at]CartyStudios.com

Community: http://www.webmagnates.org/community/

We would love to hear your feedback and suggestions. Simply send us an email and we will surely respond back with the best possible words ☺

Cheers,
NiCK Carty..